

Document Type:	Tech Brief
Document ID:	TB025
Last Modified Date:	August 2, 2017

Question:

How do I get emailed notifications for product updates, alerts, new articles, and new documentation from GE?

Answer:

It is possible to get daily email notifications from GE regarding new alerts, articles, documentation, downloads, and videos about GE software and hardware through the GE Customer Center at <https://digitalsupport.ge.com>.

Please follow these steps to enable daily email notifications:

- Login to the Customer Center at <https://digitalsupport.ge.com>. You will require a GE Customer account for login.
- After logging in, click your name at the top-right of the webpage.
- You will be brought to the customer overview page. Click the Notifications tab at the left-center of the page.
- Choose your required notifications. You can choose to receive all new Customer Center Knowledge Base additions or pick and choose up to 100 filters to only receive different types of notifications about products that you use.
- Make sure you click the save button in the upper-center of the window to save your preferences!

You will now receive a daily email with any new updates to the GE Customer Center Knowledge Base for any products that you chose.

Original Author: Tom Prenda on August 2, 2017
Key Words: #GE #Knowledge #Base #Email #Update #SIM #SP #Alert #Hardware #Software
Products: All GE Products
Version History: